

F4124003 SINULARIA

A motif reminiscent of moss seen up close, of seaweed, a vegetal world that Isabelle de Borchgrave is particularly fond of. It is a pattern between abstraction and nature: the density creates a living, almost tactile material. A fabric of life, painted with instinct and finesse. Its adaptation into a jacquard combining natural materials and chenille perfectly captures this organic and intense spirit. A quality particularly suited for seating use.
